

Figure 4-1

Ephemeral Escarpments and Natural Obstructions that Could Impact Nesting Sea Turtles along the Beaches of St. Johns County.

Top photo: 16-foot high escarpment in South Ponte Vedra, recorded in November 2001.

Middle photo: 9-foot high escarpment in along Fort Matanzas National Monument, recorded in November 2001.

Bottom photo: Outcroppings of Anastasia rock south of Matanzas Inlet.

Figure 4-2

Recreational Beach Equipment on the Beaches of St. Johns County.

(These sailboats and lounge chairs were located seaward of private residences in North Ponte Vedra.)

Figure 4-3

Educational Signs Promoting Sea Turtle Conservation Are Posted at Beach Access Points and Ramps.

Figure 4-4

Typical Traffic Sign at a Vehicle Access Ramp in St. Johns County.

Figure 4-5

Traffic Sign at the Southern Boundary of Guana River Marsh State Aquatic Preserve.

Figure 4-6

Sign at Vilano Beach Ramp Indicating that Northbound Traffic Is Authorized Only to Permit Holders.

Figure 4-7

Sign at Usinas Ramp Indicating that Public Vehicular Access on the North Beaches Is Limited to North Beach Parking Permit Holders Only.

Figure 4-8

Example of Mounted and Unmounted Trash Receptacles on the Beaches of St. Johns County.

Figure 4-9
1999 Aerial Photograph of Porpoise Point Displaying Multiple Driving Lanes through the Accreting Dune System.

